ORGANIZED 1860. CHARTERED 1873.

Opens Its Forty-Sixth Scholastic Year, September 5, 1906.

GENERAL REMARKS.

ST. FRANCIS Solanus College is under the direction of the Franciscan Fathers of the Province of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. It is intended for the education of Catholic boys and young men exclusively.

Location The College is located at Quincy, Adams Co., Ill. This city, situated on a plateau overlooking the Mississippi River, is known for the beauty of its parks and streets and for its healthful climate. It is within easy access from all parts of the country by means of the Wabash R. R., the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City R. R., and several lines of the Burlington Route, viz.: the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern, and the Hannibal & St. Joseph Rail Roads.

The location of the College in the resident portion of the city, two miles from the river and one mile from the noise and traffic of the business district, while affording the advantages of the city, is sufficiently retired to insure the quiet necessary for the earnest pursuit of study.

Equipment The buildings are spacious and modern, and arranged with a view to the health and convenience of the students. They are well-ventilated, lighted by electricity and heated by steam. The study-hall and class-rooms are large and pleasant; the former especially is admired by visitors. The dramatic-hall, seating more than nine hundred persons, is one of the finest of its kind. The recreation-halls, the billiard-rooms and the reading-room permit the students to spend their free hours pleasantly and usefully, particularly when the inclement weather makes out-door recreation impossible. The grounds are sufficiently large to afford the students a field for the usual athletic exercises. The large and pleasant dormitories are kept scrupulously clean. The bath-rooms, furnished with warm and cold water, give opportunity for regular baths, thus promoting cleanliness and health. To meet an emergency of fire, the buildings are amply provided with standpipes and hose, and fire-escapes.

Object The object of the college is, in general, to instil into the hearts of its students the principles of their holy religion, and to assist them in forming a character which will enable them to pass through life as faithful children of the Church, and as useful and refined members of society. To achieve this no pains are spared, and the means suggested by the best authorities and long experience are employed.

In particular, the object of the College is:

1. To supply the deficiencies of an imperfect common-school education.

2. To prepare young men for mercantile pursuits.

3. To fit students for such professional studies as require or make advisable a classical or even a philosophical course.

Departments In view of its threefold object, the College has these departments:

1. The Preparatory, in which students remain until they are fit for promotion to either the Commercial or Classical Department.

2. The Commercial Department.

3. The Classical and Philosophical Departments.

The Commercial Course is completed in three years, the Classical in six and the Philosophical in two, the first year of which coincides with the sixth of the Classical Course.

The classes of the Commercial and Classical Courses are combined, except in Latin, Greek, Ancient History and Mathematics. While these branches are being taught, the students of the Commercial Course receive lessons in Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Business Correspondence, History, Orthography, Civil Government, Physics, Phonography and Penmanship.

Students on entering the College are examined and assigned to the class for which their attainments have rendered them fit; and they are required to study every branch taught in that class and course.

Winter Course For the benefit of young men who are prevented from taking the regular Commercial Course of three years, or who wish to take a short course of studies during the winter months, we have, at the urgent request of friends, established a short but complete business course. It extends over five months, commencing with the first Wednesday of November and ending with the first Wednesday of April. It embraces Christian Doctrine, English, Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Penmanship, Phonography and Typewriting. Those taking this course are subject to the same regulations and entitled to the same privileges as the other students. The terms for five months are the same as in other departments. (See page 11.)

Branches The following branches are taught at the College: Catechism, Bible History, English, German, French, Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Rhetoric, Poetry, Literature (English and German), Arithmetic, Mathematics, Geography, History (Profane and Ecclesiastical), Natural History, Physiology, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Astronomy, Mental Philosophy, Bookkeeping, Phonography, Typewriting, Penmanship, Commercial Law, Civil Government, Instrumental and Vocal Music.

The study of German, Typewriting and Music is optional, but if these branches are once chosen, they remain obligatory throughout the whole course. No additional charges are made for Phonography.

Sessions The scholastic year is divided into two sessions, commencing respectively with the beginning of September and the first of February. Students once admitted must remain until the end of the session, and no deduction from regular charges will be made if they leave before that time, except in case of protracted sickness or expulsion.

Examinations There are two class examinations during the year; the first is held in January, the second in June. The result of these examinations will be made known to the parents in a detailed testimonial. In addition to this, bulletins will be issued in November and April.

Graduation The institution, by virtue of its charter, is empowered to confer degrees. Hence, at the completion of the Commercial Course, the degree of Master of Accounts, and at the completion of the Classical and Philosophical

of the University of Illinois

The Chapel.

The Study Hall.

Course, the degrees of A. B. and A. M. respectively are conferred on students that have merited them by exemplary conduct, gentlemanly deportment and proficiency in their studies. The Institution wishes thereby to secure a wholesome emulation and to reward those deserving of the distinction.

Music

This department affords the student the best opportunities to acquire proficiency in music. Lessons are given on the piano, organ, violin, cello and other orchestral instruments. Each student receives two lessons of thirty minutes each every week, and forty-five minutes every day for practice. All those who have acquired the necessary proficiency are admitted to the College orchestra. In addition to this, harmony and counterpoint are taught. These studies are intended for those who wish to become rapid and comprehensive sight-readers and who wish fully to understand and enjoy the construction and inner meaning of music, vocal and instrumental. The text-books used are: "Manual of Harmony," by P. Piel; "Manual of Counterpoint," by E. F. Richter. Vocal music is taught without charge to all that show any aptitude or inclination thereto. Candidates for the priesthood, however, are obliged to attend the class in which the theory and practice of the Gregorian Chant are taught.

Instructions to Parents or Guardians.

1. As this is a Catholic institution, in which only Catholic young men are admitted, the dangers resulting from the intercourse with non-Catholic associates is precluded. Besides, the institution is in a position to follow strictly Catholic principles of education.

2. Boys under ten years of age are not admitted.

3. The students are always under the vigilant care of their professors and form but one family with them. Close attention is given to the wardrobe, dormitories and all other departments on which health, comfort and economy depend. A skillful physician visits the institution regularly, and medicines are always at hand. In case of serious illness, the parents or guardians will be notified in time.

4. Every student should be provided with:

Two suits for daily wear and one for Sunday.
Two hats or caps.
One overcoat.
Six shirts or shirtwaists, collars and ties in sufficient number.
Three suits of light and three suits of heavy underwear.
Two nightgowns.
Twelve pair of socks or stockings.
Twelve handkerchiefs.
Two pair of shoes.
Six towels.
Six napkins and ring.
All necessary toilet articles.

5. Applicants must present satisfactory testimonials of their moral standing, unless they are personally acquainted with some member of the faculty.

6. Cigarette fiends will not be admitted.

7. Students may enter at any time, but they can scarcely be expected to derive the full benefit of the instruction imparted unless they enter at the beginning of the year.

8. Bulletins or testimonials will be sent to parents or guardians at the end of each quarter, to inform them of the conduct, application and standing in class of their sons or wards.

9. Parents or guardians wishing their sons or wards to leave the college should inform the President, settle all accounts and forward the traveling-expenses.

10. The college will make no advances to students for pocket-money, clothing or other incidental expenses, except for books and stationery. To meet such expenses a sufficient amount must be deposited with the President.

11. All money sent to students as pocket-money is supposed to be placed under the control of the President, who will use his discretion in permitting its use.

12. Since boxes of eatables are a fruitful source of gluttony, sickness and dissatisfaction, they should not be sent to students.

13. Payment for board or tuition must be made invariably in advance, or within thirty days from entrance, at the expiration of which the Treasurer will draw for the amount without further notice, unless special arrangements have been made.

Rules to be Observed by Students Boarding at the College.

1. Every student must show obedience and reverence to the President, the professors and the prefects.

2. Resistance to the college authorities, if repeated, will be punished with expulsion. Those who instigate their fellow students to disobedience are liable to the same punishment.

3. The course of studies adopted by the College must be followed by each student, unless an exception be made for particular reasons by the President.

4. The students are expected to receive the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist at least once a month.

5. Students are strictly forbidden to leave the College grounds, or visit any private house or family, without first having obtained permission.

6. The use of tobacco in any form is strictly forbidden to students under sixteen years of age. The use of smoking-tobacco (cigarettes always excluded), under certain restrictions of time and place, will be allowed to students over sixteen years of age, if their parents explicitly wish it. The use of intoxicating liquors and the keeping of firearms and other dangerous weapons are strictly prohibited.

7. All letters written by the students, and those received by them, may be opened and read by the President.

8. The students are forbidden to subscribe to daily newspapers or to buy or retain any reading-matter, unless it has been examined and approved by the President. Objectionable reading-matter found in the possession of a student will be confiscated, and the owner will be liable to punishment. Catholic weeklies, magazines and other periodicals of recognized value are found on the tables of the students' reading-room.

9. Any student whose language or behavior is irreligious or impure, will be expelled if other punishments fail to correct him.

10. All damage done to property must be fully compensated.

Rules to be Observed by Day-Scholars.

1. The above regulations apply also, as far as practicable, to day-scholars.

2. It is left to the parents of day-scholars to see that their sons comply with their religious duties.

3. Day-scholars who are notably tardy in their attendance or absent themselves from classes, must show a written excuse from their parents to their respective professors on entering the class-room. Failure to show such an excuse will make the student liable to punishment.

4. To keep apace with our boarders and to meet the requirements of their class, day-scholars ought to have three full hours for study at home every day.

5. Day-scholars who are found serving as messengers for boarders, assisting them thereby in violating the rules of the institution, will be dismissed after they have been convicted of the offense a third time, any alleged ignorance of the regulation notwithstanding.
